SUPPLEMENT TO REPORT NO.

1. An American flag was flown for two days from the roof of the Militia Headquarters in Tutraikan sometime in April or May 1951. The authorities investigated but were unable to determine who hoisted the flag.
2. On 5 January 1951, an unidentified aircraft flew over Tutraikan and pamphlets were dropped over the area, advising the people to have more patience because the day of liberation was approaching. The pamphlets contained a picture of an olive branch.
3. In March 1951, another aircraft flew over the area and again pamphlets were dropped. Instead of an olive branch, these pamphlets depicted a pig being stabbed in the flank with a knife.
4. [REDACTED] members of resistance groups, believe that a revolution will take place between September and November.
